NEW MEDIA FOR STORED RATES

Vendors at the Radionics Masters Conference in Rapid City South Dakota were showing new forms of media for storing (potentizing) rates. The use of plastic cards was prevalent. Some of these were ID-badge style cards and some of these were door key type cards with the magnetic strip on the back. The cards were plain without printing but did contain a sticker with the contents that was potentized. It was explained that the magnetic strip on the back was not used.

Other vendors were using SD memory cards. They explained that the entire card was potentized and that the memory within the card was unused. Since these cards are now very inexpensive having mostly been replaced by micro-SD cards and they are small, it is easy to carry a large number of them in a pocket.

The key cards, ID cards and SD cards are all available at low costs on www.eBay.com and www.amazon.com.
